

Meet Patty Perez

I bring over 27 years of experience in supply chain management across multiple industries and currently serve as the Supply Chain Manager at Sekisui Kydex. I've lived in the Bloomsburg area for more than a decade and am passionate about giving back to the community. I've volunteered with Habitat for Humanity, supported the Women's Center, and currently serve on the board of the Joint Rail Authority. I've also had the joy of volunteering with the Children's Museum in the past, and I'm excited to now contribute as a board member to help create meaningful, educational experiences for local children and families.

Being part of this board is a natural extension of my commitment to service, and I'm honored to support a space where curiosity, creativity, and community come together for our children.
